

5

ABSTRACT

10

A pumping system for pumping liquid with entrained intermittent volumes of gasses. The pressure downstream of the pump is measured and the speeds of the engine and pump are controlled in response pressure changes downstream of the pump by a controlling element overriding a governor of the engine.

15